Government of Rajasthan

As part of our continued efforts to foster long term competitiveness and prosperity of our State, I am pleased to present the Rajasthan Investment Promotion Scheme, 2010. This scheme will provide a boost to investment in the State and give a fillip to setting up of new ventures and expansion of the existing ones.

The financial incentives, subsidies and exemptions of this scheme will encourage investors across wide range of sectors to park their investments in Rajasthan. A special focus of this scheme is employment generation and upliftment of women, SC/ST and persons with disability. The scheme lays emphasis on simplifying the procedure for grant and disbursement of subsidy and adding transparency to the system, by introducing on-line disbursement of subsidy.

The Rajasthan Investment Promotion Scheme, 2010 is a new step towards finding a mutually beneficial partnership between business and the overall development of the State.

Government of Rajasthan

We have recently announced a comprehensive Industrial and Investment Promotion Policy that addresses a wide range of issues such as infrastructure development, ease of doing business, human resource development, land availability, etc. To supplement it, the Rajasthan Investment Promotion Scheme 2010 has been announced containing a package of financial incentives and subsidies to enterprises in the State.

These initiatives are aimed at providing competitive advantage and support to the industrial and social sector projects in the state of Rajasthan. Our Government believes that private enterprise can play an important role in socio-economic development of the State and creating jobs for its people. We are taking major steps towards improving the business climate and encouraging private investments in various sectors including physical and social infrastructure development on Public Private Partnership. Most of these initiatives and measures are based on suggestions received from investors from time to time.
